Investment manager overview

Guardian was formed in 1962 and is one of Canada's longest-established, independent investment counselling firms. Over its 50-year history, Guardian has offered its investment management expertise in balanced fund management, equity management and fixed-income management to pension fund clients, institutions, operating and endowment funds, charitable organizations, mutual funds and high net worth individuals. Guardian Capital Inc. is wholly-owned by Guardian Capital Group Limited. The parent company's common and non-voting Class A shares are listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange

Investment philosophy

Guardian's investment philosophy is to achieve a prudent balance between risk tolerance and return enhancement. This balance is key to successful longer-term performance. Guardian also believes that longer term success will be achieved through fundamental research, superior security selection and implementation of a disciplined approach. They utilize both a "bottom-up" and "top-down" approach for portfolio construction with primary emphasis on a "bottom-up" process.

Investment process and risk controls

The Canadian Equity mandate is designed as a well-diversified mandate by sector/industry and security selection with a “growth-at-a-reasonable-price” style. Guardian seeks out companies which have the potential to grow sales (top-down) and earnings (bottom-up) faster than the economy, faster than their peer group and faster than the market as a whole. They focus on companies which will provide a fairly stable and predictable earnings path in the future.

As they buy companies on a relative-value basis to all others, they also sell on the same criteria. Guardian does not set price targets at the time of purchase. Stocks are sold for one of 4 reasons; the stock has moved to an overvalued price, more attractive alternatives arise, there is a negative change in company fundamentals, or the stock may be reduced if its weighting within the mandate exceeds 7%.

The overall emphasis combines a bottom-up view (approximately 80%) with a top-down view (approximately 20%). Individual equity security selection is based on in-depth knowledge of each company through a proprietary screening process (which includes an SRI screening). The top-down approach includes a thematic (i.e., demographics, technology, globalization, etc.) outlook for the economic, social and political trends which might affect the market as a whole and the underlying sectors, industries and securities within the market.

Risk management is an integral part of the decision-making process. They seek out companies which have strong balance sheets, superior management teams and a catalyst which is expected to have a positive impact on price performance over time

[2] Style represents the aggregate characteristics of the underlying holdings within this model. Market capitalization measures the aggregate market value of the outstanding shares of a company. Large-cap stocks are defined as the group that accounts for the top 70% of the capitalization of each geographic area; mid-cap stocks represent the next 20%; and small-cap stocks represent the balance.

[3] Duration measures the sensitivity of the fixed income investments to interest rate changes measured in years. In general, the longer the duration, the more sensitive the investment will be to interest rates changes. Credit quality measures the underlying issuer's ability to repay their debt.

The return data is as atDecember 31, 2025. Indicated rates of return are historical annual compounded total returns including reinvestment of all distributions for the period ended, and do not take into account management expenses, account sales, redemption, distribution or optional charges or income taxes payable by any security holder that would have reduced returns.
