

Brookfield Private Real Assets Fund (BPRAF)

Investment Overview

BPRAF is a single solution for Brookfield’s private real estate and infrastructure capabilities focused on opportunistic and value-add / core-plus strategies.

Portfolio Updates

- Private Opportunistic Real Estate performance was mixed and varied by sector and region. U.S. office properties were challenged by delays in lease up and select U.S. retail properties were hurt by capitalization rate expansion. The weakness was offset by strength across several Europe and Asia hospitality assets and senior living properties that benefitted from strong and stabilizing operating income.
- Private Core-Plus Real Estate was a detractor due to capitalization rate and discount rate expansion primarily within the U.S. office and multifamily sectors.
- Private Value-Add/Core-Plus Infrastructure was a strong positive contributor driven by operational improvements and the completion of several projects that are now generating revenue. Within renewables, we completed the construction of multiple new solar farms in South America and within the data sector we activated a new indoor network system at a European airport.
- The Liquid Real Assets portfolio generated a positive return driven by the continued elevated level of interest income available in both the investment grade and high yield markets.
